Beralmar

India Beralmar combustion engineering & equipment pvt ltd is fully owned by Beralmar Tecnologic S.A.

The mission of the new Bangalore-based company is to provide combustion equipment, automation and complete production lines of bricks with a 100% local supply for the entire Indian subcontinent: European technology with local costs.

Due to the specificities of the sector and the technological point of departure, BERALMAR has defined a series of machinery and specific production lines for the Indian market, which from now on can be supplied locally by the new company founded for this purpose.
